

There was no bigger rivalry going into WrestleMania XXVII than Rhodes versus Mysterio. Back in January, Rey accidentally broke Cody's nose in a SmackDown match while performing the 619, leaving the former

'Dashing' one needing surgery and unable to compete at Elimination Chamber or the Royal Rumble. There was only one way he was going to settle this: inside the squared circle, on the biggest stage of all...

"Introducing Cody Rhodes, his mask hiding his self-proclaimed disfigurement!"

"He blames his arch rival Rey Mysterio, and here he is!"

"Mysterio starts off with a flying hurricanrana from the top rope!"

"But Rhodes quickly recovers – and we see a smile behind the mask!"

"Rey receives his own blow to the face. That's gotta hurt!"

"Surely Cody can't reveal what's behind Rey's famed mask!"

"Wow, look at this – Rey is being held in a suplex!"

"He's landing the superplex more like!"

"But Rey's recovered in his own spectacular style!"

"More pain for Rey – this is a match too close to call!"