

PEGASUS HAS LANDED

Kenta and his friends were taking part in the WBBA competition, trying to earn as many Beyblade points as possible.

"Go Sagittario!" Kenta shouted as his favourite Beyblade spun against an opponent's.

Kenta's friends had already been knocked out of the competition but were supporting him with great enthusiasm inside the stadium.

Meanwhile, Gingka was walking through town when he saw two Beyblader fans rushing to the stadium. Rather than taking part, Gingka decided to rest up and save his energy for the bigger battles ahead and fell asleep, with his trusty Storm Pegasus Bey on a nearby roof overlooking the city.

After some successful battles Kenta was eventually defeated and crashed out of the competition. Kenta and his friends left the stadium, discussing their performances.

"Oh, after all that I only got into the top eight," Kenta sighed.